

KATIE SPOTZ PRESS KIT

THIS IS KATIE

World Record Breaking Endurance Athlete &
Safe Water Activist

Katie is an endurance athlete, charitable ambassador, author, and world-record holder. 35-year old Katie Spatz, from Cleveland, Ohio, describes herself as having been the “benchwarmer” throughout her life. However, there came a time when she made a discovery: you don’t have to be extraordinary to achieve incredible things. And she set about achieving them, one by one.

The list of accomplishments to Katie's name is long, and includes five ironman triathlon, cycling across America, a 325-mile river swim, running across deserts and a solo row across the Atlantic Ocean. But this wasn’t just any row; when Katie arrived in Guyana, South America, after 70 days at sea, she set a world record for the youngest ever solo ocean rower and first American to row from Africa to South America, some of many records to her name.

HER MISSION

Throughout her adventures, Katie isn't just seeking to make history. She is also raising money for a cause she cares about—providing access to clean drinking water to everyone in the world. Along the way, Katie has helped more than 30,000 people have gained access to clean water in Haiti, Honduras, Guatemala, Nicaragua, India, South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda, Nigeria, Kenya, and the USA. To date, more than $300,000 has been raised and a total of 75 projects funded since 2010. Katie's goal is to raise $1 million for water projects, giving kids a chance to stay in school and get an education instead of fetching water all day.

Katie is continuing to raise awareness of the plight of the billions around the world suffering from a lack of safe drinking water, as an Ambassador for H2O for Life, a non-profit that provides a service-learning opportunity for schools to raise awareness about the water crisis while taking action to provide funds for water, sanitation and hygiene education for a partner school in a developing country.

TALKING POINTS

To inspire others to reach their own potential and to encourage others to help others reach their potential through providing access to clean water.

- Katie is an unlikely adventurer. Before she become a world-record breaking endurance athlete, Katie first needed the courage to get off the bench despite being a self-proclaimed bench-warmer.
- Katie has experienced 30-foot waves, fires, and extreme isolation while rowing the Atlantic, a cycling accident resulting in a broken pelvis, and has overcame hallucinations, lost toenails, and edema from ultra running. Her faith in God and clean water mission enable Katie to tackle seemingly impossible feats.
- You don't need to be extraordinary to achieve incredible things. Katie considers herself as—just an 'ordinary person, who had a dream, worked hard at it and proved that anything really is possible'.
- 785 million people lack basic access to clean and safe drinking water. That's nearly 1 in 10 people worldwide. Or, twice the population of the United States. Katie is inviting others to join the mission to change that.
- Clean water changes everything. Clean water gives children the opportunity to attend school and get an education. With education, communities are able to raise up strong leaders, making it possible to break the cycle of poverty and allowing future generations to improve their quality of life.
